

Registered Nurse – Gerontology Nursing

Your skills and experience could make all the difference in the lives of older people.

Whether as a specialist or a generalist, the field of Gerontological Nursing can be both challenging and rewarding as you help people transition through the stages of their later years with dignity and independence. You support healthy aging, maximum functioning, and the highest possible quality of life for your patients, clients, or residents.

Successful candidates will be able to balance numerous demands and conflicting priorities, and have a proven ability to work effectively within a multi-disciplinary team environment. You will be skilled in patient care, treatment planning, education, mental health, and rehabilitation of patients with complex needs and may have multiple chronic conditions. You can follow appropriate nursing standards and protocols while using excellent observation and assessment skills to recognize and be responsive to patients' changing conditions.

Qualifications

- Current registration or eligibility for registration with College and Association of Registered Nurses (CARNA)
- Current Basic Life Support (BCLS-HCP) certification required; additional certifications as relevant to specific positions
- Excellent interpersonal and communication skills to enable working directly with patients, their family members, physicians, and other members of the health care team
- Must excel at working in a dynamic fast paced environment
- Work well under pressure and stressful situations required
- Baccalaureate degree in nursing preferred; however, skills and experience relevant to nursing practice in community sector will be considered

Why Alberta Health Services?

With facilities located across the province, a strong commitment to work/life balance, and a collaborative work environment, you can build your career in a setting that suits you. Discover competitive wages and benefits, opportunities for personal and professional development, and outstanding teams, all while making a difference in the lives of Albertans.

To apply, visit Alberta Health Services job board.